

20th Annual Missouri American Water MR340 Event Set for July 8-11

The World's longest nonstop river race will take place from Kansas City to St. Charles along the Missouri River

St. Louis, Mo. (July 7, 2025) – On July 8 beginning at 7:00 a.m. more than 500 paddlers from around the world will begin the 20th Annual Missouri American Water MR340 river race. Participants will paddle 340 miles from Kansas City to St. Charles in non-motorized boats, kayaks and canoes in a four-day race to the finish line.

“The Missouri American Water MR340 race brings awareness to the importance of our rivers, specifically as reliable sources of drinking water for millions throughout the state,” said Rich Svindland, President, Missouri American Water. “As the water service provider for one in four Missourians, our team is dedicated to the delivery of safe and clean water now and for future generations.”

Race proceeds benefit the event host, Missouri River Relief, a nonprofit organization connecting people to the Missouri River through environmental stewardship, education and recreation. Approximately 40 volunteers from Missouri American Water will join Missouri River Relief staff and hundreds of other volunteers to help organize and facilitate the race.

“In the past 20 years, this race has built a community of paddlers, families and towns that support each other and care for the Missouri River,” Race Director Steve Schnarr said. “We are so proud this race continues to be a world-class event on our favorite river.”

The race details are below. Racers and their support ground crews will stop at nearly all boat ramps along the Missouri River. Check out race photos from previous years!
